

Brethren, here is the last message Carmen sent me, and here is my response to it, which I sent last week. She has never responded and as far as I know she has not spoken to anyone or told anyone why they have defriended/blocked us all on FB.

God have mercy, your brother in the faith, Ryan.

Hi Ryan,

i dont know if you truly understood me or not or if you heard what I said that is for me not clear.

So I will repeat it that there is no misunderstanding.

I said I would like to comunicate with you more openly that was the first thing and than I said that I would like to share what the I learned from the book of James and so on.

Not sure why it was wrong and why you didnt hear the first thing I said.

Just wanted to share this because I feel you didnt hear it and you at the end you not thought good of me.

Sister Carmen, why does it seem that you have defriended me on Facebook, sister? Is that a mistake, or have you really done that, dear sister? Are we still speaking this week as you and Bianca said we were? I am greatly afraid for you, my beloved sister.

As for your message above, I did not understand you the first time when you said you would like to communicate more openly. I received your correction however, when you clarified what you had said, which I had not heard the first time. However, I explained to you that I was still concerned about your so quickly speaking about the book of James because it was right after I had given a very sober word in Numbers 13 and 14. That was in fact my main concern, that you were not hearing the Scriptures that I was speaking, which were very fearful, and also the thing that I was saying about the warnings you and Bianca had been given by God before you left here, through Jake and in other ways. I do not see why you would be so offended at me right now, sister, if there was not great darkness working in you. My dear sister in the Lord Jesus Christ who I love from my heart and have shown you time and again that I do, what have I done to so offend you, or what have we done ,as it seems that you are indeed forsaking charity and in darkness toward your brethren (1Jn. 1:5-7)?

In answer to what you said at the end of your message above, I was concerned for your soul at the end of our conversation, sister, because you have not been in the light with your brethren, like the Lord had shown you you should be, and like the Word of God says you should be (1 Pet. 5, for instance). I had preached about that and explained how that was true despite your many surface level conversations with different brethren, and you did not seem to be fearing the Word of God, which is very dangerous because Scripture teaches that we should fear His Word, or we will perish in our sins (Pro. 13:13, Is. 66:2b, for instance).

If you have defriended your brethren, sister, does that not justify my fears and my consequential sobriety in our conversation last week? We love you very much, and are deeply concerned, will you please tell me what is going on? Why are we not friends on Facebook, my beloved sister Carmen?

Your concerned friend, pastor, a father in the faith to you, that has loved you as my own family,
Ryan Ringnald
