

Dearest Brethren,

I was pressed this night concerning the music burden and desired a new song to the edification of the saints. I know the Lord desires to give us a song in the night, and our sweet psalmists are few; thus I asked the Lord for a song, and he immediately answered me. It was birthed in just a few minutes, but has been a-preparing in my soul for a couple of months now. Hallelujah!.. It was inspired by the sermon that I preached this last Lord's Day. It's called, "A Stranger With You".

*I am a stranger here with you,
O my God.
I am not worthy of this great and glorious privilege
You've given to me!*

*You hold my hand and we walk on,
And with your eye
You guide me through water, fire and storm; you've been here before,
So we walk on.*

*"Rise up, and come away,
My wayfaring ones.
Look from the mountain tops, away from this world,
My beloved, my spouse!"*

*You are our Shepherd, we're your flock,
So we hear your voice.
Away from the streams of earth to Living Fountains above,
You call us up!*

I am a stranger in the earth:
Hide not thy commandments from your son!*

Amen! To God be glory in the church both now and forever!

Your Servant for Jesus' Sake,
Jake
