

Dearly Beloved Brethren (here and abroad),

Below is the Testimony of the events that have transpired over the weekend that have led us in a firm conviction that now is the time to pursue the glory of our Risen Lord as never before. I am appealing to all to read the following testimony (it has been enlarged from what I read yesterday), and listen to the two sermons preached last night, which, Lord willing, will be published on Sean and my secret pages. Sean's is entitled, "Brethren, Let Us Judge Ourselves", and mine is, "When Was The Last Time You Saw The Glory Of God?". This is not just for the brethren among this local lampstand, but we are convinced is an urgent message and the immediate vision of God for all or our dearly beloved brethren. Godspeed!

Your Till Death,
Jake
