Several weeks ago you sent two unnamed churchofwells men 1000 miles to intimidate my family. This is the result of me identifying several examples of churchofwells deception and harm via a facebook discussion. One of your members wanted to come to my town to determine my salvation and I declined. A week later I received word that two unnamed men from the churchofwells were in my town right then and ready to meet with me. This is creepy that you would send men 1000 miles uninvited to intimidate me. It was necessary for me to set firm boundaries with the messenger and establish an action plan because my family does not feel safe around any churchofwells members.

This example is consistent with other peoples experiences with churchofwells members just showing up at peoples homes unannounced, uninvited, and using numerous methods with a result of creating an intimidating atmosphere.

If you are willing to use intimidation methods against me, do you also use them against the other churchofwells members? Do churchofwells women ever feel like they are being intimidated, humiliated, and shamed? Have you ever seen adult members of your church intimidating, humiliating, and shaming the churchofwells children?

It is not necessary to teach the Word of God by intimidating, humiliating, and shaming people.

When someone like me attempts to point out the harm of your behavior then we are accused of slander, murder, and committing a grievous sin against God. Then we receive more threats of eternal judgment, more accusations of being against God, and unwelcomed visits.

 Can anyone firmly disagree with the churchofwells interpretations of God's word and not be accused of committing a grievous sin punishable by hell?

 Can anyone leave the churchofwells (without the blessing of the elders) and not be accused of committing a grievous sin punishable by hell?

If churchofwells members are even occasionally treated with intimidation, humiliation, or shame; Then it is not the fear of God they would be experiencing, it is the fear of other churchofwells members. They would easily be afraid of leaving your group because you have convinced them that God would punish them for leaving without your blessing.

If there is any member of the churchofwells that has experienced or witnessed intimidation, humiliation, or shaming by the other churchofwells members then it is time to either leave or expose this behavior to light.
